- Apart from the Nashik shopping centre which is already operational, the shopping centres at Pune and Indore along with the Taj hotel in Kolkata are at advanced stages and expected to be operational within the next 12-15 months
- Given the evolution of Yatra from an investment vehicle into a maturing real estate portfolio owner, significant changes have been made to the board and governance structure of key companies within the group

Valuations Update

- Till March 2009 the valuers had adopted the Discounted Cash Flow technique to value all the projects in the K2 Property portfolio
- However, the board and a few shareholders felt that the valuation methodology should be independently reviewed; hence E&Y was appointed to undertake this task
- Basis E&Y's recommendations and board member's subsequent deliberations, it was agreed that projects where construction is underway or about to commence should be valued using Discounted Cash Flow method, with recognition of market comparables wherever possible. Projects where the business plan is still under review should be valued using the Direct Comparison method, where possible
- CBRE was appointed to value the entire portfolio
- Malcolm King, a key member of the Yatra & K2 boards has been involved in the entire valuation process including physical meetings with the CBRE team in India

Corporate Advisor & Broker

- As a maturing listed company, the board feels it important to consider appointing a strategic financial advisor as well as a corporate stock broker (or a single entity that fulfils both roles)
- Key reasons to look for new brokers / advisors:
 - Transition from an investment vehicle to a mature asset holding entity
 - Given low levels of market activity and low liquidity where small insignificant trades have a significant impact on the share price, Yatra would like to take advice on various corporate finance alternatives to enhance share price performance & liquidity
 - As the company assets start coming online it may need assistance from its advisors to engineer exits
- The process to identify such entities is currently on-going

MACRO ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

Macro Economic Summary

- India's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) grew at 6.0% in Q3 FY2010 (April 2009 – March 2010) as compared to 7.9% in Q2 FY2010 and 6.2% in Q3 FY2009
- However, growth rates in Q4 are expected to be substantially higher, resulting in an overall GDP growth rate of 7.2% in FY2010
- The expectation for GDP growth during FY2011 stands at 8%
- India would see nearly a million new jobs created in FY2011 (in the organized sector), 35% more than in the current fiscal year. Hiring has picked up in the economy across sectors like pharmaceutical, chemical, auto, insurance, education, retail and IT
- India has attracted FDI of €15.8 billion and FII investment of €15.4 billion between April-Dec 2009
- Exports went up in Feb 2010 for the fourth straight month to €12.1 billion, an impressive growth of 34.8% over Feb 2009; imports, too, gained momentum growing by 66% to €18.8 billion
- Encouraged by the strong industry performance, the government has started the process of rolling back some of the economic stimulus measures announced earlier
- However, inflation continues to be a big worry with the Wholesale Price Index rising to 9.9% in February while Food inflation continues to soar at over 17%

Exchange Rate: €1 = INR 60.56

Real Estate Market Overview

- Improving absorption & revenues are reducing the pressure on developers
 - Residential: Most markets have seen positive traction due to price cuts. However developers have now started raising prices especially in Mumbai and the National Capital Region which has led to a slow down in sales. Projects where pricing is realistic continue to enjoy healthy absorptions
 - Retail: Revenue share with minimum base rental model is being implemented by retailers uniformly across shopping centres. Leasing demand is increasing as the serious retailers rekindle expansion plans. Quality of shopping centre management becoming a key differentiator
 - Office: Sentiment has improved substantially as is evident by the increase in inquiries for commercial space. Corporate expansion plans are expected to be announced in the new financial year beginning April
 - Hospitality: ARR and occupancies improving but still under pressure. Marginal improvements in occupancies in larger cities such as Mumbai & Delhi
- Developer balance sheet stress is lower compared to 9-12 months ago; however recent policy directives disallowing any further debt rollovers have the potential to create significant stress over the next 6-9 months
- Monetary environment tightening may impact fund raising environment for many of the real estate companies still out to raise money. Investor enthusiasm for participation in realty IPO's remains muted
